

Coventry Carol (verses 2 and 3)

by Robert Croo, 1534

Refrain:

Lully lullay, thou little tiny child,
by by, lully lullay.

Herod, the king, in his raging,
charged he hath this day his men of might,
in his own sight, all young children to slay.

That woe is me, poor child for thee!
And ever morn and day, for thy parting neither say nor sing by by, lully lullay! [Refrain]
